UK COOPERATIVE EXTENSION SERVICE

DEDICATION

John and Sue Litkenhus

John and Sue Litkenhus have been very involved in the 4-H Horse Program on the county, area, and state level for over thirty years. The Anderson County couple started their 4-H horse involvement in 1974 when they became club leaders of the Anderson County 4-H Horse Club. Sue attended the Southern Region 4-H Leadership Conference in Rock Eagle, Georgia in 1975 and attended a workshop session on 4-H Horse Camps. After getting back home, she met with Dr. Steve Jackson, Equine Extension Specialist at the University of Kentucky, to see if they could start their own horse camp. Because of Sue and John's enthusiasm, initiative, and leadership, they and Dr. Jackson created and started the first 4-H Horse Camp in Kentucky in 1976. This horse camp, located at the Lawrenceburg Fairgrounds in Anderson County, was a seven day horse camp and cost $35. Campers slept in stalls next to their horses, showered at the local community pool and ate their meals at a local school across the road from the camp. Campers came in on Sunday and left on Saturday after an instructional horse show. Sue was Camp Director. She was in charge of getting the facilities, hiring the cooks, ordering the food, organizing registration, making stall assignments, making sure camp was running smoothly and much more. John assisted Sue as Camp Director, was also in charge of camp clean up, and has mucked many stalls over the years. For many years he slept in his horse trailer guarding the front gates. The camp started with 50 horses and grew to over 104 horses before they had to scale down. Since that first Horse Camp in 1976, horse camps were created and modeled after this one and have been established all over Kentucky. Sue and John coordinated the Fort Harrod Area 4-H Horse Camp for ten years before passing the reins on to others. During their tenure as camp directors for the Fort Harrod Area 4-H Horse Camp, the quality and number of participants at the State 4-H Horse Show increased dramatically each year. The Fort Harrod Area earned "Outstanding Area" at the State 4-H Horse Show for four years straight.

Sue and John were also club leaders of the Anderson County 4-H Horse Club. They taught 4-H members how to judge horses, give horse speeches and demonstrations, participated in 4-H variety shows, coordinated horse shows, exchange trips, overnight trail rides, and much more. Their horse judging teams were state champions for many years. Their state champion teams traveled to Hershey, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, and Columbus, Ohio to compete in national contests. The club competed in the 4-H Variety Show and their winning act was featured on channel 18 television. Many of the horse club members were state champions in speech and demonstration contests. Sue and John stayed actively involved in the horse program until 1988. All four of their children, Carolyn, Janet, Mark, and Kathy, rode, showed and learned about horses in 4-H. All of their children placed in the top 10 at the State 4-H Horse Show. Exceptional accomplishments included Mark receiving High Point Western Performance Senior, Janet winning the Sr. Western Horsemanship Class, and Kathy placing 2nd in showmanship out of 75 horses. Back then, there were only junior and senior divisions and the classes were much larger with a minimum of 70-100 horses per class.

Sue and John's children are now adults but their involvement in the Horse Industry has continued. Mark and his wife Tina own their own horse farm and they and their children compete in rodeo's, Janet is a 4-H Agent with the University of Kentucky and she and her husband Malcolm have a goat farm and their two children are actively involved in the 4-H Horse Program. Carolyn is a homemaker and she and her husband Alex enjoy watching their three children ride and show horses in the 4-H Horse .

Program, and Kathy and her husband Dale live in Ohio and have two small children.

Sue and John have continued to stay involved in the 4-H Horse Program by being involved with their grandchildren. They currently have nine grandchildren with four grandchildren in the 4-H Horse Program and two almost old enough for 4-H. For the past three summers, Sue and John have run an eight-week boot camp for four of their grandsons. Each day starts with a two-mile run, a big breakfast of pancakes, cleaning out stalls, and working horses in the ring or on a trail ride. Each grandson logged over 150 hours working with his horse. All of the hard work paid off, one grandchild was reserve high point in the Western Performance division in 2003 and won the Jr. Western Riding Class in 2004. All three grandchildren placed in the top ten.

Not only have Sue and John dedicated their time with 4-H but they are very involved in the community. In January of this year, Sue was Anderson County Citizen of the Month. Sue is the current President of the Anderson County Cattleman's Association and secretary of the Pierian Women's Club. She is a Water Aerobics Instructor, former PTO President and Extension District Board Member. She was a school teacher for ten years. She is also very involved with her church. She is the former Director of Religious Education of St. Lawrence Catholic Church and a former member of the Catholic Diocesan Board of Education and was catechist of the year in 1994. John is retired from IBM and farms full time with cattle and horses. He has been very involved in the Farm Bureau Federation and has served as their President. Both John and Sue are directors of Farm Bureau Federation since 1987. John has been the president of the Anderson County Cattleman's Association and has also served on several committees within the community including the Board of Adjustments.

Sue and John are very deserving of this award. Not only did they make Kentucky 4-H history by starting the first horse camp in the state of Kentucky, but they are still educating youth and teaching about horsemanship and the life-long love of horses.

Please join the Kentucky 4-H Horse Program in honoring John and Sue Litkenhus contributions at the Dedication Ceremony, Wednesday, July 13th at 7pm.
